Suits Against EPA – Unlawful Delay

• In re A Cmty. Voice, 878 F.3d 779 (9th Cir. 2017)
WASHINGTON - U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Administrator Scott Pruitt is taking action to address lead contamination across America by formally inviting his colleagues and fellow Cabinet members to join with EPA in developing a federal strategy to reduce childhood lead exposure and associated health effects. “Lead exposure is a significant health and safety threat to children across the country,” said EPA Administrator Scott Pruitt. “EPA is committed to taking action to address this threat, and improve health outcomes for our nation’s most vulnerable citizens – our children.”
• EPA is proposing to change the dust-lead hazard standards from 40 µg/ft² and 250 µg/ft² to 10 µg/ft² and 100 µg/ft² on floors and window sills, respectively.

The National Enforcement Initiatives

• 1. Keeping Industrial Pollutants Out of the Nation’s Waters.
• 2. Reducing Risks of Accidental Releases at Industrial and Chemical Facilities.
• 3. Cutting Hazardous Air Pollutants.
• 4. Reducing Air Pollution from the Largest Sources.
• 5. Ensuring Energy Extraction Activities Comply with Environmental Laws.
• 6. Keeping Raw Sewage and Contaminated Stormwater Out of the Nation’s Waters.
• 7. Preventing Animal Waste from Contaminating Surface and Ground Water.

• APG-3: Accelerate the pace of cleanups and return sites to beneficial use in their communities. By September 30, 2019, EPA will make an additional 102 Superfund sites and 1,368 brownfields sites ready for anticipated use (RAU). (EPA will facilitate prompt site cleanup and use an “enforcement first” approach.)

• APG-5: Increase environmental law compliance rate. Through September 30, 2019, EPA will increase compliance by reducing the percentage of Clean Water Act (CWA) National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permittees in significant noncompliance with their permit limits to 21% from a baseline of 24%.
U.S. Environmental Protection Agency’s FY 2018 – FY 2022 Strategic Plan (February 12, 2018)

• EPA takes the overwhelming majority of its enforcement actions in programs that are: (1) not delegable to a state or tribe; (2) in states or tribes that have not sought authorization to implement a delegable program; or (3) in states or tribes that do not have the resources or expertise, or that seek assistance from the Agency.
For states and tribes with authorized programs, EPA, states, and tribes share enforcement responsibility, with primary enforcement responsibility residing with the state or tribe.

Even in states or tribes authorized to implement a program, EPA serves a critical role in addressing serious national noncompliance problems, such as those affecting multiple states or tribes, and in serving as a backstop for instances when a state or tribe does not timely or appropriately address serious noncompliance.

IV. Missouri Cases
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

In August 2014, Missouri voters amended the Missouri Constitution to adopt Article I, section 35.
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

That agriculture which provides food, energy, health benefits, and security is the foundation and stabilizing force of Missouri's economy.
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

To protect this vital sector of Missouri's economy, the right of farmers and ranchers to engage in farming and ranching practices shall be forever guaranteed in this state, subject to duly authorized powers, if any, conferred by article VI of the Constitution of Missouri.
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Section 35. That agriculture which provides food, energy, health benefits, and security is the foundation and stabilizing force of Missouri's economy. To protect this vital sector of Missouri's economy, the right of farmers and ranchers to engage in farming and ranching practices shall be forever guaranteed in this state, subject to duly authorized powers, if any, conferred by article VI of the Constitution of Missouri.

- Hill v. Mo. Dep't of Conservation, Case No. SC 96739 (Mo. banc July 3, 2018)
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Vimont v. Christian County Health Dep't

“RSMo § 192.300 empowers county commissions and boards of county health centers to promulgate orders and ordinances to enhance public health and combat disease, provided such enactments do not conflict with state rules or regulations.”
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

_Vimont v. Christian County Health Dep't_

“Citing this statutory authority, the Christian County Commission ... enacted an amended Food Order ordinance ("CCFO") regulating raw milk sale and distribution.”
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Vimont v. Christian County Health Dep't

After County ordered Vimont to cease sale and distribution of raw milk, he sued asserting the County health regulation was barred by the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment.
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

_Vimont v. Christian County Health Dep't_

“... under article VI, the County Commission was authorized to manage all legal county business, exercising such powers as the legislature saw fit to delegate or those fairly implied by powers expressly granted.”
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Vimont v. Christian County Health Dep't

“The legislature saw fit to delegate to county commissions, via RSMo § 192.300, power to promulgate public-health rules and ordinances.”
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

State v. Shanklin

“... statutes prohibiting marijuana cultivation and possession are unconstitutional ... because article I, section 35 of the Missouri Constitution protects ‘the right of farmers and ranchers to engage in farming and ranching practices....’”
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

State v. Shanklin

“This Court's primary goal in interpreting Missouri's constitution is to ascribe to the words of a constitutional provision the meaning that the people understood them to have when the provision was adopted.’’
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

State v. Shanklin

“The amendment includes no language suggesting Missouri voters intended to nullify or curtail longstanding laws regulating or prohibiting possession, cultivation, and harvest of controlled substances.”
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Hill v. Mo. Dep't of Conservation

“This case concerns the regulatory authority of the Commission, which was created by an amendment to the Missouri Constitution first approved by the voters in 1936.”
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

_Hill v. Mo. Dep't of Conservation_

“Under this amendment, the Commission has authority over the ‘control, management, restoration, conservation and regulation of the bird, fish, game, forestry and all wildlife resources of the state.’ Mo. Const. art. IV, § 40(a).”
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Hill v. Mo. Dep't of Conservation

In 2015, Hill sued MDC to enjoin regulations designed to eradicate chronic wasting disease in cervids (deer).
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

_Hill v. Mo. Dep't of Conservation_

Gasconade County Circuit Court enjoined enforcement of regulations on basis of Article I, section 35 - “Right-to-Farm” Amendment.
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Hill v. Mo. Dep't of Conservation

“The precise contours of ‘farming and ranching practices’ protected by article I, section 35, are difficult to identify, as is the nature of the protection afforded by that provision.”
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Hill v. Mo. Dep't of Conservation

“But neither question needs to be answered in this case. Instead, . . . nothing in the language of article I, section 35, suggests it was intended to limit the Commission's constitutional authority under article IV, section 40(a) . . . .”
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

_Hill v. Mo. Dep't of Conservation_

“The Court cannot conclude the voters intended to overthrow this longstanding regulatory pattern by adopting article I, section 35, when there is no language in this provision to suggest they did so.”
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Conclusions:
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Conclusions:
- DNR has constitutional authority under Article IV, section 47 since 1972 to: “administer the programs of the state as provided by law relating to environmental control and the conservation and management of natural resources.”
MWCC Conference

Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Conclusions:
- Counties and local governments have constitutional authority under Article VI and separate statutory authority to enact health-based regulations on agriculture.
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Conclusions:
- “Right-to-Farm” Amendment does not restrict DNR exercising its constitutional and statutory authority.
Legal Effects of the “Right-to-Farm” Amendment

Conclusions:
- “Right-to-Farm” Amendment does not restrict a County or County health center board from exercising constitutional authority and statutory authority under section 192.300, RSMo.
Missouri Cases - Exhaustion of Remedies

• Because judicial review pursuant to § 536.150.1 is statutorily restricted to when a governmental agency decision is not “subject to administrative review,” aggrieved parties must exhaust all their administrative remedies before seeking judicial review in a non-contested case.

State ex rel. Robison v. Lindley-Myers, No. SC 96719, 2018 WL 2927735 (Mo. June 12, 2018)
Procedural due process requires the opportunity to be heard at a meaningful time and in a meaningful manner.
